Paraguay Changes Presidents; 6th in 17 months. — headline. Down in Paraguay the right of succession isn't a law — it's a courtesy.

Churchman tells his congregation the automobile is the greatest curse on the human race since Adam committed the original sin. And agreement with him will be a lot of automobile owners — who had a blowout on Sunday, and on Monday found they needed a new battery too.

From the way the Balkans are reacting it appears Russia is no more disinterested in making a profit off her small neighbors than the United States in her dealings with the so-called banana republics of Central America.

Industrial peace may find something to build on in the report that President Truman's Fact-Finding Board brought in over the weekend on the threatened steel strike. The report rejected the union's demand for higher wages, but urged employer-paid pensions and insured pensions.

In terse and direct language the arbitrators declared the nation's steel industry is in a state of "postwar inflation" and can't risk starting another upward spiral. The risk in changing basic costs of steel, coal and transport at this time is that a change in basic costs is always pyramided up to the top — resulting in price increases all out of proportion to the original wage demand in the basic industry itself.

What the nation wants right now is price readjustment, increased volume of business — and a long run of stable prosperity. We have this in our hands now, if patience and fair-mindedness are exerted by everyone.

Last Chance to Vaccinate Heifer Calves

All farms requested calf-hood vaccination for Bang's disease have been mailed notices as to when the vaccinator will call at the farm or the call has already been made, reports Oliver L. Adams, county agent.

Any farmer expecting his heifer calves 4 to 8 months of age to be Bang's disease vaccinated and who has not been scheduled should contact the county agent at once. The two vaccinators who have been working in Hempstead county during the last two weeks will complete their assignments Friday, September 16. A few herds that are located within reach of vaccinators may be able to spread the vaccine on Friday schedules.

To date 318 head of heifer calves on 96 farms have been given the protective vaccine in Hempstead county. Calves vaccinated with Strain 19 vaccine as is being used has under no known circumstances been able to produce the disease. These calves are officially vaccinated and will be eligible for shipment to 41 states that have ratified this plan at this time. Those in charge expect universal recognition in the near future so it is not a new plan. Every calf vaccinated receives a tattoo in the ear.

To Discuss Music Test Results

Band director G. T. Cannon today repeated his earlier announcement that a meeting of all interested parents and children will be held tonight at Oglesby Junior High school, starting at 7:30, to discuss the results of the music aptitude test given last week to junior high and grade school students.

"From my preliminary studies of the test papers, I am more than pleased with the grades made by the children," Cannon said. "I urge all interested parents to bring their children and attend the meeting tonight," he said.

Discussion will center around the child's possibilities in the study of music. Part of the program of the Hope Public schools is to try to give every child in school an opportunity to develop his personality and broaden himself culturally through music study. The school instrumental music tonight will enable school patrons to meet and talk over with Mr. Cannon which course of action should be taken to best meet their child's needs.

Those interested in starting their child in the band, a full and complete line of instruments in all price ranges will be on display, furnished by Philip Werlein, Ltd. of Shreveport. A representative of the firm will be on hand also to assist parents in their decisions.

Tito's Rebellion Spreading to Other Nations

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Sept. 12 — (AP) — Premier Marshal Tito flung new defiance into the teeth of the Russian bear today.

Yugoslavia, he declared, "stepped by tremendous experiences" in World War II, is ready to overcome any present troubles at it did its best ones.

The premier, prime target of Moscow and the conformism as a heretic from Marxism, addressed a group of engineers and workers from a motor factory at NA Rakovica, near here. They came to Belgrade to show him the new types of tractors they developed in the country's industrialization campaign — the very campaign which so irks Moscow.

Tito has refused to bow to Moscow's orders to concentrate on an Agrarian economy, just as he refused to heed Moscow's orders to step up collectivization of farms. His thus far successful rebellion against Moscow domination in these and other aspects now shows signs of being copied in other communist countries.

In his brief talk, Tito told the group their efforts provided the best answer to foreign "inventions and lies" about socialist development of Yugoslavia. The account was carried by the communist newspaper Borba.

Rallying to Tito's standard, his navy informed him today it is ready to defend the nation against any attacks, "regardless if they come from East or West — regardless whether they are led by Churchill or Stalin."

This telegram to Tito came in the name of officers and men of the navy and it denounced the Cominform's anti-Yugoslav campaign as a dirty but futile attempt to interfere with this country's internal affairs.

Such results and such hostile attitudes "only frighten us," the telegram said. "We are convinced victory will be ours because we are defending the just cause, because we are faithful to the teachings of Marx and Lenin."

Tito and his Yugoslav communists lay claim to being better communists than Stalin and his Russian ones.

Saturday's revelation that Hunan had had eight top party men for trying to overthrow Khrushchev-controlled government was taken here as the latest evidence that important persons in the satellite countries would like to follow Tito's example.

Along with other incidents, it is considered to show wide-spread resentment in eastern Europe over Russia's economic exploitation of the small "people's democracies."

Observers recalled the trial and execution of Albania's Koci Xoxe, the removal of Greece's rebel leader Gen. Markos Vafiadis, Bulgaria's ousting of Traicho Kostov from his party post and the development of an independent anti-Moscow Communist party in Germany.

Tito's promise in August — "we will help the Bulgarians to remove those individuals who have created obstacles to their friendly relations" — now is believed to have a deeper meaning.

Diplomatic observers in Belgrade said the proposal, put only to the Bulgarians, but to the rest of eastern Europe, to help all those who oppose subservience to Moscow.

It appeared here that, with so many high-ranking communists denounced, the Cominform states, there must be a very widespread independence movement in those countries.

Czechoslovakia's official communist newspaper yesterday accused Marshal Tito of plotting to combine eastern Europe into an anti-Russian alliance.

It said the alleged anti-government plot uncovered Saturday in Hungary was only part of the scheme.

The newspaper, Rude Pravo, charged that "American imperialists supported Tito in his plan." Moscow newspapers meanwhile continue their anti-Tito campaign with stories and cartoons.

Mock Attack Bombards Ft. McHenry

Baltimore, Sept. 12 — (AP) — Fort McHenry, birthplace of the "Star Spangled Banner," underwent a mock bombardment last night. For a time some Marylanders thought perhaps it was the real thing.

U. S. navy ships staged the simulated attack on the historic old fort. It was part of a program commemorating the successful defense of the city against the British just 123 years ago. It was that battle which inspired Francis Scott Key to write the Star Spangled Banner.

But when naval vessels started banging away in a 1939 version of the bombardment, police switched boards were swamped with calls.

Police assured the callers that the rockets' red glare, this time, was all make believe.

Milk Case to Be Heard in Court Sept. 28

A suit contesting the validity of a Hope ordinance governing the sale of milk here will be heard in Hempstead county court on Wednesday, Sept. 28.

Catholics to Talk Over Situation

Vatican City, Sept. 12 — (UP) — The Vatican announced today that the Catholic hierarchy in Czechoslovakia had expressed its desire for peace between the church and the Czech communist government and had set the conditions under which it would negotiate.

The Catholic peace gesture was decided on at a conference of Czech bishops at Tabora, Slovakia, on Aug. 14, the Vatican radio disclosed.

The bishops drafted a seven-point set of conditions for the resumption of negotiations with the communists. The negotiations were broken off last spring and the church, headed by Archbishop Josef Beran of Prague, led to a bitter tug of war which had shown no signs of abating.

The bishops, in a memorandum on their decision, said they would swear loyalty to the government as soon as their conditions for religious freedom and recognition of papal authority in Catholic matters were met.

"We will have peace between church and state when the government attacks against the freedom of the church and her authority have ceased," it said.

Signed by all the episcopate except Beran, who was not permitted by the government to attend the conference, the document called for complete freedom for him. It also demanded that the communist regime cease at once what it called the "persecution of true Catholic priests."

The first gesture toward a resumption of negotiations recalled that a proposal to solve the church-state difficulties last March drew no answer from the communist government.

Robins Again Attacks Health Insurance Plan

Chicago Sept. 12 — (AP) — Arkansas' democratic national committee, Dr. R. D. Robins of Camden, has fired another salvo at the compulsory health insurance program proposed by the Truman administration.

Robins declared at a meeting of the Illinois Medical society yesterday that more than 1,500 organizations oppose the proposal.

Military Aid Funds Approved by Committee

Washington, Sept. 12 — (UP) — A joint senate committee formally approved a $1,314,010,000 military aid bill for free nations today, after Republicans dropped their demand for a specific arms grant to Chinese anti-communists.

The action, by a 20-to-3 vote of the combined foreign relations-armed services committees, sent the military assistance program to the senate floor where it will be debated in about three weeks.

Republicans, who had insisted on a specific grant for non-communists in China, agreed to a compromise permitting—but not ordering—President Truman to spend $75,000,000 in the "general area" of China.

Committee Chairman Tom Connally, D., Tex., told reporters that the almost unanimous committee vote argued well for "almost solid support" on the senate floor.

Democratic Sen. Walter F. George and Richard B. Russell of Georgia and Harry F. Byrd, Va., cast their only votes against the bill. They wanted to cut the spending total.

Republican committee members had threatened for a time to block action on the whole arms bill by going about for the military aid to China. They had condemned the "permissive" grant as a phony compromise.

But Sen. William F. Knowland, R., Cal., leader of the GOP bloc, said after the vote that the final version was "satisfactory" to him.

Vice Adm. Oscar C. Badger, former commander of the far Eastern fleet, told a news conference just before the committee acted that $75,000,000 of American aid would stem the communist advance in China "if properly applied."

Badger, who returned recently from China and testified before the joint senate committee last week, said further military help should be contingent upon the Chinese nationalists offering a "constructive, timely and feasible" plan for using it.

Steamfitter Charges Union Is Unfair

Dallas, Sept. 12 — (AP) — A steamfitter who charged his union with "unfair" and "discriminating practices" against its members is picketing the union's headquarters today.

Ray Booker has said he will picket local headquarters of the AFL-CIO union and steamfitters union each Monday until the union "stops its boycott of members who want to do a full day's work."

Booker charges the union "is interested in stretching out contracts as long as possible and to do so instructs its members to work at a certain pace to insure that jobs last as long as possible."

Union officials have offered no comment.

Women's Clothes? They Don't Make the Woman Anyway — Just Make Her Talked About

By HAL BOYLE
New York, Sept. 12 — (AP) — A mere male came up today with an answer to what's wrong with the way women dress.

"The answer is — women," said Charles Le Maire. "They need too much dictation as to what they should wear."

Le Maire is in a position to do a little dictating himself. As wardrobe director for Twentieth Century-Fox films, he runs a staff of 200 clothes experts. They have the pleasant chore of fitting lace and fur pretties to girls like Betty Grable, Jeanne Crain, Dorothy McGuire, June Haver and Maureen O'Hara.

But the clothing of film stars is designed to their own personal architecture. This isn't true of the average woman.

Le Maire, a designer himself, said the biggest mistake most women make is to follow blindly the dictates of fashion oracles — or to try to pour herself into a certain type of dress merely because it looked good on a department store mannequin.

A girl shouldn't pay any attention to what she hears of Paris styles," he emphasized.

"She should think first of her own shape, and dress to it. If her figure doesn't go with what she wants to wear, then she should change her shape."

Le Maire has only a weary sympathy for girls who think they can achieve a pencil silhouette with a tight corset.

"The excess flesh has to go somewhere," he sighed. "It has to go either up or down, forward or backward."

This, he explained, is why there are so many girls around who look

Spreading Cold Front Moving in From Canada

By United Press
A vast cold front swept out of the Canadian Rockies today, scattering snow over some western mountain states, and weather forecasters warned that temperatures would plummet "all the way to the Atlantic coast."

This is going to be the worst cold snap this season, a weather expert at Chicago said.

He said the cold air was moving slowly but would cover most of the nation in a few days.

Snow fell in southern Montana and north Wyoming, reaching a caliche, Helena, Mont., reported depths of six inches in some loess-covered reaches.

The temperature did not rise above 36 degrees yesterday at Helena. But at the same time, it was 99 at Laredo and 100 at Presidio on the Texas-Mexican border.

Forecasters said that if the cold was accompanied by clear skies, frost might develop in isolated sections of the Midwest. Little damage was expected, however, to the nation's bumper corn crop which is now in the last stages of maturing.

Slippery pavements were blamed for a head-on highway collision near Dekalb, Ill., in which four persons were killed and 10 others injured.

Heavy seas off the California coast were slowly breaking up the 11,000-ton motorship Pacific enterprise where she lay hard aground on the rocks off point anaena, 100 miles north of San Francisco.

A skeleton crew of 13 men abandoned ship and little hope was held for salvaging her cargo of grain, metal, canned salmon and 1,500,000 feet of lumber.

An electrical storm Saturday night knocked out the main transmission lines of the Bonneville power project, plunging a vast area of the Pacific northwest into darkness.

Spokane, Wash., was hit hard and iron lungs in hospitals had to be pumped by hand to keep the helpless polio victims alive. Power was restored to most of the area after about 30 minutes.

Railway Strike Affects Cotton Compresses

Little Rock, Sept. 12 — (AP) — Cotton compresses in 14 Arkansas counties will be affected by the Missouri Pacific strike.

W. S. Turner, Little Rock, vice president and secretary of the Arkansas Cotton Trade Association, said Saturday that the walkout will tie up compresses in Badona, Lake Village, Portland, McGee, Dumas, Marcel, Hughes, Marianna, McCrory, Newport, Batesville, Morrilton, Conway, Dardanelle and Wynne.

But to Take Teachers to Arkadelphia

A school bus will leave from the Court House lawn each Saturday morning at 7:30 beginning September 17 to carry teachers to Arkadelphia who are interested in taking a quick disappearance.

Nine women figure in today's court appearance, one of whom did not press her charge, and another as the lure who trapped him in a swank Chicago luggage shop.

Among them were Mrs. Helma Sperran, 66, of Chicago, who claimed he took $4,100 from her in 1925 but did not press the charge; Mrs. Vivien Huebner, 45, of San Francisco, who annulled a marriage to him; and Mrs. Genevieve Parro, 55, of Chicago, who was the bait in the luggage shop.

Among them, these women were responsible for charges of transportation of stolen money from a state to state (Mrs. Kubiak); operating a confidence game (Mrs. Corigan); first degree grand larceny (Mrs. Langton and Mrs. Perry); and a charge of grand larceny (Mrs. Grimes). The confidence game charge takes precedence, but the others must be settled in event he escapes Illinois law.

One above the waist note was particularly memorable. The designers have picked some necklaces from the Egyptian to brighten the necklines above bare-shouldered gowns. The necklaces, which consist of two slightly curved and faintly asymmetrical triangles of silver or mother of pearl "scales" hung from a snug throat line, should be equally effective slung slightly over center over the top of a simple black dress.

Others are slung like aprons to the front, still others worn as wrap around skirts that don't quite meet in front.

The only real "flying panels" shown are among the most effective yet seen here. A pale blue taffeta floor length gown is cut like a sheath around the legs. Over it, from curving hip seams, is a series of long, overlapping free panels in the same material. Their low-hip beginning appears to get rid of the maypole dance quality which has distinguished some similar efforts.

Now Is Time to Request Pine Seedlings

Farmers desiring pine seedlings for planting on their farm should place their requests at once with Oliver L. Adams, county agent. The seedlings are available in limited numbers from the Arkansas Forest Commission Nursery.

November and December are the more desirable months for planting. Approximately 1000 seedlings are needed to plant one acre.

Farmers interested in purchasing seedlings should contact the county agent's office in the court house at once.

Move Started to End MP Strike; Steel Crisis Is Up to CIO Strategists

Union Considers Truman Request for Delay

Pittsburgh, Sept. 12 — (AP) — The steel strike crisis was put up to strategists of the CIO United Steelworkers today.

They held the answer to President Truman's request for an 11-day extension of the strike to expire tomorrow midnight. Steel industry's Big Five accepted the extension.

Also in the union's hands is the working man's demands for a four round pay increase — specifically whether to accept the presidential board's formula for settling the steel wage dispute.

The board suggested a 10-cent hourly package covering pensions and insurance, but not wages.

Decisions on the board recommendation also are expected from more than 60 steel companies, as soon as officers and boards of directors finish studying the fact-finders' report.

The steel workers' executive board went into session at 9 a. m. Eastern Standard Time at Hotel Sheraton. CIO and steelworker President Philip Murray, spearheading the union's fight for a fourth round pay boost, got behind closed doors with other union heads to plot their course.

The executive board is made up of international officers and 33 district directors. Its recommendations must be ratified by the union's wage policy committee which was called together at 1 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. The wage policy group includes the executive board plus representatives of local unions.

Decisions of the executive group usually are not made public before presentation and action by the wage policy body.

Murray has withheld comment on the truce and the fact finder report pending the union meeting. There is general feeling however that the truce will be extended.

Slick Operator to Trial for Swindle

Chicago, Sept. 12 — (AP) — Swindler Sigmund Engel, the 73-year-old specialist in women, came to court today with a trial of eight women clamoring he bilked them of $93,700.

Engel, a dapper rascal by his own profession, was arrested June 24 by the machinations of one of his intended victims. Another of his actual victims signed a complaint which led to Cook county indictment on confidence game charges. This is the charge being tried today.

But behind those circumstances was a trial of women across the continent, a glib tongue, multiple aliases, and quick disappearances.

Nine women figure in today's court appearance, one of whom did not press her charge, and another as the lure who trapped him in a swank Chicago luggage shop.

Among them were Mrs. Helma Sperran, 66, of Chicago, who claimed he took $4,100 from her in 1925 but did not press the charge; Mrs. Vivien Huebner, 45, of San Francisco, who annulled a marriage to him; and Mrs. Genevieve Parro, 55, of Chicago, who was the bait in the luggage shop.

To Dedicate Plant

Little Rock, Sept. 12 — (AP) — The Arkansas Power and Light company's new $15,000,000 power plant near Forrest City will be dedicated next Friday.

Officers and directors of the Middle South Utilities, Inc., will attend the dedication.

Bottom of the Skirt Is Making News

New York, Sept. 12 — (UP) — Swing your hips and show off your skirt — it's the bottom of the dress that's making news this season.

That's the word from Henri Bendel's custom dressmakers who have rung more changes on the below the waist dress sections this week than most designers turn up in two seasons.

The designers have apparently figured out nature's bustline, fitted but not too snug ribs and the here and there but always modest necklines are well enough—they've left them pretty much alone.

But below the waist, they're slinging tunics and overskirts, even headlines, swinging panels and a host of assorted puffy peplums.

Skirt fullness, in everything from coats and suits to evening dresses, is most frequently concentrated at the side with fronts and backs being flat to counteract a head-on blow with a side-view slimsness. The rule is not constant. Practically all fronts are flat, but a number of skirts do continue the fullness around in a circle.

The tunic there runs through the collection like a lure with variations. Flaring overskirts are cut off to show pencil-line under skirts anywhere from the hip to a few inches above the hem.

Frequently employed to show contrast of color as well as of line, they sometimes startle at first glance. Some are constructed as bodice and tunic, for instance, that's hemmed just above the knee. Underneath is a black lace and sequin underskirt — one sees when the wearer gets a little closer.

Several evening skirts are cut off at the daytime hemline in front and lengthened abruptly at the side seams to fall to the floor or longer in back. This is all the same skirt, no panels or overskirt required.

A beautiful short pink dancing dress is technically just one skirt but it swings like a bell from its soft mid-thigh hoops to show off a pretty petticoat around the knee.

Other overskirts concern themselves with concealing partly the severity of the slim skirts below them. Some are constructed as huge puff peplums, usually dipping low at one side, flaring high on the hip at the other.

Others are slung like aprons to the front, still others worn as wrap around skirts that don't quite meet in front.

The only real "flying panels" shown are among the most effective yet seen here. A pale blue taffeta floor length gown is cut like a sheath around the legs. ## Arizona Ranch Girl Selected Miss America

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 12 — (AP) — An Arizona ranch girl headed for the big city today to start her career as Miss America, 1949.

Dark-haired, brown-eyed Jacque Mercer of the X-bar-X ranch, Litchfield Park, Ariz., who won the title Saturday night, starts on a round of personal appearances that will take her back across the continent.

The 18-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Mercer came here from her ranch home after winning the title Miss Arizona. As the new Miss America she gets a $5,000 scholarship and a $3,000 automobile, plus contracts for the personal appearances. She won two awards over a field of 52 beautiful girls from 45 states, four major cities, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Canada.

Although her long-range plans are "marriage first, career second," her immediate objectives are another year at Phoenix junior college and then Leland Stanford university. She's studying dramatics, and it was a dramatic reading from Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" that gave her first place in the talent division of the pageant.

Her figure — 34-inch bust, 22-inch waist, 34-inch hips — gave her a first in the bathing suit division. The girls also appeared in evening gowns.

The shortest Miss America since 1921 (five feet four inches) and the lightest ever (106 pounds), she neither drinks nor smokes. She designed all the gowns she wore in the week-long beauty pageant. Ironically, the tiny but trim Arizona girl succeeds a five feet nine inch, 138-pound Miss America of 1948, Miss Bebe Shopp of Hopkins, Minn.

The Mercer family ranch, on which they raise 60 acres of cotton, has show, poultry, five dogs and a single lamb.

The young drama student once drove a tractor on the ranch for a month, at 75 cents an hour, in order to see a play in a west coast city.

Miss America's married counterpart, Mrs. America, was selected yesterday at Asbury park, 60 miles north of here on the Jersey shore, and promptly suggested a "Miss Mrs." comparison.

Mrs. Frances L. Cloyd of San Diego, Calif., 23-year-old mother of three children, contended that a woman had to be married before qualifying as really mature and beautiful. She suggested a competition, "perhaps for charity."

Mrs. Cloyd listed her statistical assets as blonde hair, blue eyes, 56 1/2-inch bust, 20-inch waist and 30-inch hips.

And in New York, Miss Germany of 1949 (Ingeborg Marianne Lowenstein) stepped off a plane and held newspapers with a sign that "American girls are built better than foreigners," because "usually German girls are heavier set."

Miss Germany herself didn't fit the description. Her assembled curves came to a total of 5 feet six inches, 122 pounds, 36 1/2-inch bust and a 23 1/2-inch waist.

Vols Take Over Flag for 9th Time

By The Associated Press

For the ninth time since 1901 the long ball hitting Volunteers of Nashville, Tenn., have won the Southern association baseball pennant, and like other years it took a lot of winning.

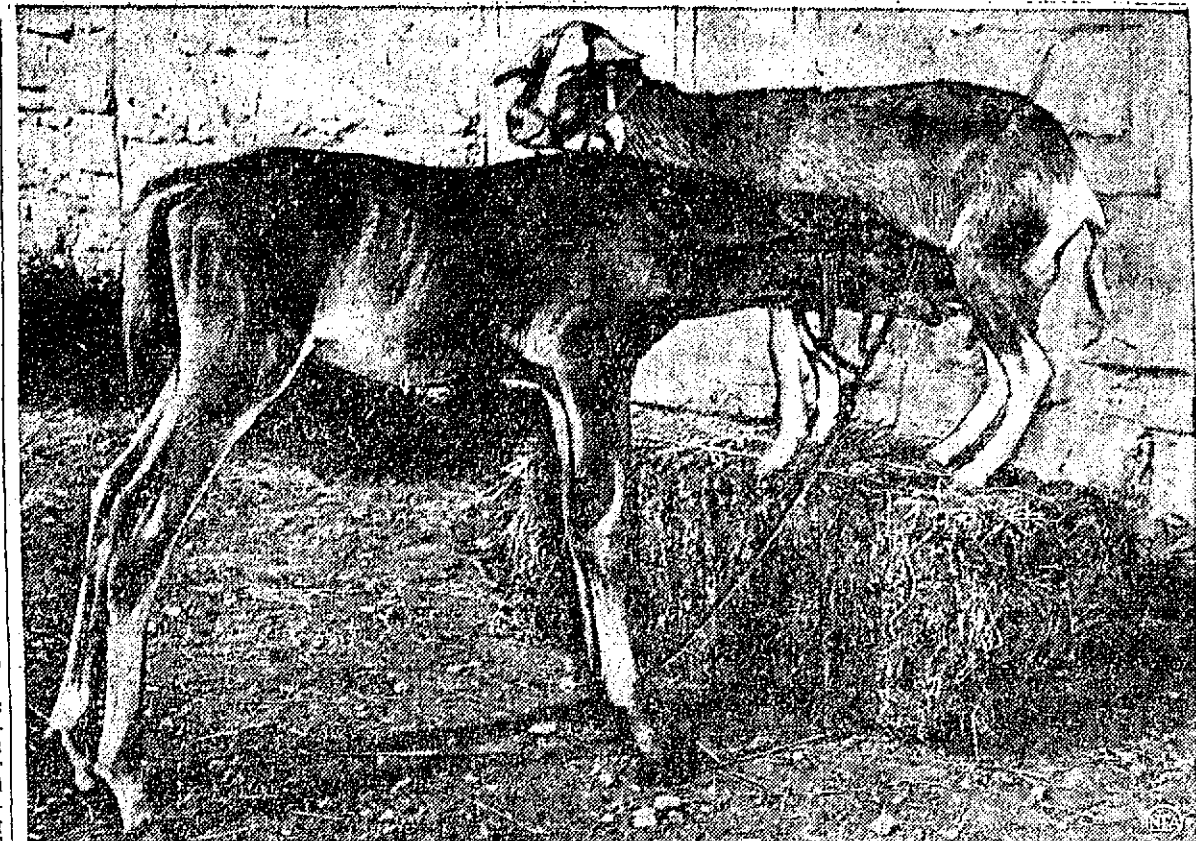

Just as in 1948, the Vols had to play great August and September ball to win.

No Southern team ever has won three straight pennants.

The 1949 pennant race actually ended early last week when Nashville clinched the pennant. Birmingham pressed hard for weeks but stumbled a bit and that was all the Vols wanted.

The two had such a big lead over third place Mobile and fourth place New Orleans that no one else mattered.

In the final games Nashville managed only to split with tail end

CURB SERVICE—This month-old colt's mother died when he was born, but the youngster didn't miss a meal. The obliging nanny goat stood up on a bale of hay and operations proceeded as normal on the farm of Dr. G. F. Webb, near Bonner Springs, Kans. The colt's twin is being raised on a bottle in Wichita, Kans.

THEY PICK PLAY OVER PROPAGANDA—These youngsters were compelled to attend a "Peace Day" mass demonstration staged by the Communists in the Soviet sector of Berlin, but they couldn't get steamed up about it. While their elders paraded enthusiastically, the children relaxed and looked about for something more exciting. (Photo by NEA-Acme staff correspondent Al Cocking.)

Chattanooga, 11-1, and 1-3.

Another of three splits in double-headers was in Birmingham, Atlanta whipped the Braves 4-1, but lost the second game 7-0.

Little Rock scored four runs in both games against Memphis but they weren't enough to win but one game — the nightcap 4-3. The Cubs won the first game 6-1.

Three errors by Little Rock Third Baseman John Radtovich in the first game helped Memphis score four times and tie the count. The game finally ended in the 11th inning.

Jack Sanford's single for Little Rock in the fifth inning of the tight game won for the Trus.

Pete Mondorff pitched Mobile to a 3-1 victory over New Orleans.

The Shaughnessy playoff begins tomorrow night. New Orleans plays in Nashville and Mobile in Birmingham.

After two games in those cities the teams change localities.

FUSED BY LIGHTNING

"Lightning tubes," or fulgurites as they are called by geologists, curious glassy objects found in desert country, are formed by lightning striking the sand and fusing it into glass.

A Victim of Her Own Misdeeds, Germany Is Making an Effort to Establish a Democracy

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Germany's fresh attempt to establish a democracy is under way in a line and university town of Bonn on the Rhine, where her new parliament is holding its first sessions.

It is a heroic effort, surrounded by appalling difficulties. Germany is only the shadow of her former self, the victim of her own misdeeds. Only the western areas are included in the government. Russia is said to plan the establishment of a communist government in her zone, which will become a satellite of Moscow.

That is the material with which the young parliament has to start work. Germany's experience with democracy, in the accepted sense of the term, has been vague. Her last attempt in that direction resulted in the ill-fated Weimar republic which bridged the brief years between the Kaiser's presidency and the Hitlerian dictatorship of evil memories.

The world will watch this rebirth of a nation hopeful but not without misgivings. Inevitably the question arises whether there is danger of her making another game with war.

Of course that contingency will be taken care of so long as the Allies keep a military check on the country. But lasting peace can come only with the establishment of real democracy and international brotherhood. That is the task which confronts the new government at Bonn.

There is no reason, as I see it, to doubt that it is possible to achieve success. The Germans as a whole are not a warlike folk. Their weakness in the past has been that they were susceptible to regimentation and were victimized by the Prussian warlords.

True they are a highly independent and proud people, and right now they are feeling bitter over their fate. I have seen them since the war walking about in the ruins of their once proud cities, and there is resentment in many eyes as they pass an Allied citizen.

Still, having known them for many years I don't believe that they want war any more — either a war of revenge or a war of conquest. I think their attitude may be summed up in a little story told to me years ago by the late Sir Austen Chamberlain, famous British foreign minister. I was visiting him in his home outside London and the conversation drifted about to the making of the historic peace of Locarno, in which Chamberlain participated.

This pact, signed at Locarno, Switzerland, on October 16, 1925, ended the time of the Weimar republic, pledged Germany, Belgium, France, Britain and Italy mutually to guarantee the peace in western Europe. After the powers had agreed to the terms, but before the treaty had been signed, Chamberlain, Foreign Minister Aristide Briand of France and Foreign Minister Gustav Stresemann, held a little party of celebration among themselves.

As the three sat about a tea table in a private room, congratulating one another, there was a knock at the door and a German secretary entered with a telegram for Stresemann. The latter read the message and tossed it over to his colleagues. It was from the German foreign office and ordered Stresemann to delay signing the treaty.

Chamberlain and Briand, terribly shocked, passed the message back without comment. Stresemann sat and stared at it for minutes. Finally his close-cropped, bullet head came up and he snapped out of the corner of his mouth to the secretary:

"Tell them to kiss my foot. I sign."

So he signed for peace. And we have a right to hope that his is the spirit of the new Germany.

Tragic Wave Taking State Officials

Little Rock, Sept. 12 — (UP) — Tragedy, a strong factor in Gov. St. Matthews' political past, apparently is shaping up as a moving force in his political future.

Just what the over-all effect will be, observers today were not prepared to say. But all agreed that the increasing list of deaths within the governor's official family — as well as in lower state, district and county offices — would bear watching.

A check today, brought on by the death of state legislator Lee Baker yesterday and that of Dr. W. H. Poyner of Harrison, president of the state medical board of the Arkansas medical society today, revealed that the youthful governor has found it necessary to fill at least four other top state posts which have been vacated by death since he took office Jan. 11. The governor has also appointed men to at least two district judgeships and several county offices.

The 64-year-old Dr. Poyner died at his home early today.

In addition his department heads have replaced several important men who have died or lost their lives in traffic accidents.

One observer — thinking on the theory that every political appointment aids the incumbent governor — said he believed the tragic wave of heart attacks might eventually work to St. Matthews' advantage.

Another, who watched the former Garland county prosecutor overcome the death of his father to win a heated gubernatorial campaign, said the loss of key personnel such as Baker and prison Supt. Tom Cogswell would do the administration no good.

Official Takes Side of Flying Air Captain

Washington, Sept. 12 — (AP) — The head of the naval air training program spoke out strongly today in support of the flying captain who charged that navy offensive strength is being scuttled.

"When John Crommelin, a great naval officer and very capable naval aviator, speaks, the American people should listen to him,"

Those were the closing words in a statement by Rear Admiral Austin K. Doyle of Glenview, Ill.

"Captain John Crommelin is one of the greatest naval aviators of all times," Doyle said, adding: "He has always had the country's interest at heart. He has never thought of his own interests. He is a man of the highest integrity."

Crommelin issued a statement Saturday in which he protested that navy power is being wrecked in the Pentagon, headquarters of the armed services. He said it is being "nibbled to death" and navy morale destroyed.

The navy and air force for several years have engaged in a bitter dispute over their respective roles in the war.

The 49-year-old captain said that in making his statement he knew he was breaking regulations and expected he was throwing overboard his 30-year navy career.

A navy spokesman told a reporter today, however, that Crommelin has not been suspended. The captain, who works under the joint chiefs of staff, showed up for duty as usual. During the morning he attended a meeting of his group which does spadework on America's top secret war plans.

In speaking out Saturday he said: "I hope this will blow the whole thing open and bring on another congressional investigation."

That wish won one congressman's endorsement. Rep. Sasser (D-MD) said congress should take a hand in the row. Sasser, a top-ranking Democrat on the house armed services committee, indicated he feels such a review might help settle the dispute which flared into public view during the recent congressional investigation of the air force's B-36 bomber.

He said he favored an inquiry into the roles of the army, navy and air force in defense and security.

How We Licked The Parking Problem

For a while it looked like we'd have to put up parking meters. Folks working in town—including some of the store owners—were taking up all of the space along Main Street.

Farmers coming in to shop never found a place to park, and sometimes had to lug stuff a half mile or so. Some started to do their buying in other towns. Finally, store owners and farmers had a get-together—with the result that the empty field near the depot was fixed up for all-day parkers.

Now farmers get their shopping done comfortably, and the merchants have a better place to park than they had before. Just took a little friendly co-operation to make everybody happy.

From where I sit, most differences can be ironed out by just talking things over—maybe with a cup of coffee or glass of beer—and seeing the other person's side of it. Next time you have a problem or a little difference to settle, why not try just that?

Miss Linda Jones
Weds in California
In a lovely afternoon ceremony held in Chichester Chapel of the Immanuel Presbyterian church in Los Angeles, Cal., Miss Linda Jones, formerly a resident of Hope, became the bride of Grover J. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Moore, of Los Angeles. The ceremony took place on Saturday August 27. Reverend Glenn Tudor, read the double ring ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Burgher William Jones, was given in marriage by her brother, Burgher W. Jones, Jr. She wore a long sleeved white gown of mar-quisette, trimmed with dainty appliqued daisies, while triple bands of white pique, with a cluster of orange blossoms at the side secured the length veil. The bride carried a spray of stephanotis and white roses, with a white orchid center.

The only attendant was the groom's sister, Mrs. Morris Lusk, who wore a gown of white marquisette with embroidery insertions, over yellow. Mrs. Lusk also wore a picture hat and carried yellow daisies.

The groom selected as his best man Dale Seppin, one of his classmates at the University of Southern California. Ushers were Chet King, and Scott McKinnon, both classmates of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a formal afternoon dress of pearl gray crepe with a picture hat in toast color and brown accessories. Her corsage was a purple orchid.

Immediately following the rites, a reception was held in the church edifice. Then the young couple departed for a honeymoon in Yosemite National Park, San Francisco, and other points of interest in California.

For her going-away costume, the bride chose a sheer wool suit of two-tone gray and a two-tone gray hat, with navy accessories.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Moore will reside in Los Angeles, where the groom will begin his teaching duties in one of the Los Angeles schools.

Mrs. Moore is a grand-daughter of Mrs. E. S. Jones of Hope. The bride was graduated from Hope high school, and attended the Henderson State Teachers college at Henderson, Mo.

The groom, a graduate of the University of Southern California, holds a B. A. degree in political science and mathematics.

Out of town guests included Sgt. and Mrs. Lyle F. Jones and son, Lyle, Jr., of Oceanside, Cal., uncle and aunt of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Burgher W. Jones, Jr., of Hollywood, who left immediately after the ceremony for New York City.

Candlelight Ceremony
United Rosemary Coop and Louis Ward Howard

The first Christian church, of this city, was the scene of the wedding of Miss Rosemary Coop and Louis Ward Howard of El Dorado, at five o'clock Sunday afternoon. Miss Coop is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Coop. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Earl Howard of El Dorado.

Reverend William P. Hardgrave, pastor of the church, officiated. The double ring ceremony before a background of woodwardia, baskets of white double stock, gladioli and huckleberry, and lighted tapers burning in seven-branched candelabra, a central arrangement of white chrysanthemums, fever few, and fern interspersed with lighted tapers completed the decorations. The pews were marked with white satin bows.

Nuptial music was provided by Luther Holloman, Jr., organist who accompanied Ted E. Jones, who sang "Because" and "O Promise Me." The couple knelt on a white kneeling bench as Mr. Jones sang the "The Lord's Prayer" as the nuptial blessing.

Miss Sara Ferrier, of Hugo, Okla., cousin of the bride, lighted the tapers preceding the ceremony. Miss Ferrier was gownned in white tulle and wore a hat of white spilt carnations in her hair.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a wedding gown of white marquisette decorated with an off-the-shoulder yoke outlined by pleated ruffles, with matching ruffles accenting the waistline. The full skirt terminated in a long train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was fastened to a cascade of pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of bouvardia, tube roses and split carnations tied with white satin and maline in a shaver effect.

Miss Jean Keith of Texarkana was her cousin maid of honor. Ushers were George Newbern III, G. O. Coleman, of Prescott, and Wayne Huddleston of El Dorado.

The bride's mother chose a cinnamon brown crepe dress with brown accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of Talisman roses.

Mrs. Howard, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gray crepe dress with gray accessories and a corsage of Graycliff roses.

ceiling line which included Mrs. Coop, Mrs. Howard, the bride and bridegroom, and members of the wedding party.

The mantle in the living room held a fan shaped arrangement of white double stock, gladioli and plumosa fern. Other arrangements of roses were placed at vantage points.

Mrs. Glen Smith, sister of the groom, of Camden, invited the guests into the dining room and presided at the bride's book. The bride's table was covered with a floor length cloth of nylon with lace inserts. The three-tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom and surrounded with plumosa fern and blossoms of white double stock centered the table which was edged with plumosa fern.

The bride's table was lighted by white tapers burning in crystal epergne which also held white stock and plumosa fern. Mrs. Merline Coop presided at the cake. ## Suspicious Wife

Dear Dorothy Dix: I was married at the age of 33. For fourteen years previous I worked in an office, where I came in close contact with men. Day after day I heard these men devise stories to hand their wives to cover up improper association with women. This experience has had me cause of a complex, which I am becoming most serious. For I am now married and miserable because I cannot trust my husband. Every time he leaves the house I work myself into a state because I mistrust him every minute. When we were first married I trusted him implicitly, until night he deceived me about where he had been. Since then I have been so unhappy over my suspicions that it is seriously affecting my health. There must be a sane way of thinking about a subject of this kind. Will you be kind enough to give me a start on the right track?

Answer: Perhaps the wife who is wise to the ways of men can never recapture the faith that she has lost, but she can locate the eye. One is that the reason most husbands lie to their wives is that their wives drive them to it. When a husband knows that if he tells his wife the truth about where he is going or what he is doing to do or even about some innocent thing that her jealousy will distort into a crime, he is going to save himself by telling a falsehood.

Never shall I forget one young man who in recounting to me the virtues of a girl he had married, wound up his panegyric by exclaiming: "And just think, Miss Dix, I can tell her the truth. Isn't she grand? I thought a man always had to lie to his wife."

The other fact is that it is futile to who a man. Somewhere the espionage system always breaks down. No woman is clever enough to keep tabs on her husband's every movement and prevent his deceiving her if he wants to.

So in the end you have to trust your husband all in all, or not at all. If he loves you well enough to be faithful to you, he will be, and if he doesn't, he won't, and there is nothing in the world you can do about it. If he isn't trustworthy, he is simply not worth losing sleep about.

To think that every time your husband leaves you he goes on some orgy; to suspect that he is having a liaison with every woman he speaks to, to believe that he has nothing of honor in him, is to degrade your own mind as much as it is to insult him.

Snap out of this morbid state of changes since the war. Take that term "fascist" for example. Originally that applied to the political doctrine developed by Mussolini. But because Mussolini created fascism to combat "communism" Moscow started to use "a fascist" synonymous with "anti-communist."

Thus gradually "fascist" has become a generic term among communists for anyone or anything which is in opposition to communism. That's a fact which a lot of folk don't recognize in employing this widely used word.

Then there is that ridiculous word "liberal" which has ceased to have any meaning at all as employed to characterize beliefs. And so it goes but what are we going to do about it? Not a thing excepting to let out an occasional wail as we encounter confusion. For words will change with changing times.

And the only moral we can draw from this is that we shall be smart to make sure any unusual word we use is made clear by our context. If we don't we're likely to find ourselves calling somebody by the name of his name without meaning it.

Secondary meaning: "loosely adherence to state sovereignty as in a republic."

Well there you are. You can lay your money and take your choice. The trouble with two opposed definitions is that confusion must arise unless the context of the speech or article makes clear which definition is being employed.

Of course "statism" is only one of the words (many of them political) which have undergone mind. The fact that you have known a few philandering husbands doesn't argue that all are.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a man of 32 and have always told every girl I went out with that I loved her. Now, a girl that I told that to, believed me and wants me to settle down and marry her, which I don't want to do. I feel sorry for her and I haven't got the heart to tell her that I don't care for her. What must I do?

Answer: I should think that a man who signs himself "Rose-Petal Pete" would have imagination enough to cope with any situation, so I feel that any advice of mine is superfluous.

However, as you ask my opinion, I urge you to undeceive the girl at once as to your sentiments. Probably it won't astonish her or break her heart as much as you think it will. At any rate, don't marry a girl whom you don't love just because you haven't the courage to let her know you were kidding her. She would find it out soon enough after you were married and that would mean misery both for her and for you.

Dear Dorothy Dix: We have four children, the youngest a baby, 4 months old. My husband says three children are all we can take care of and wants to give the baby to a nice couple whom we know who have no children and want to adopt him. They are well-to-do and could do for the child much. So why don't you get the crazy about the other children but doesn't seem to care for this baby. I am afraid if I do not yield to my husband about this that it will break up our family and we have always been so happy and congenial. What should I do?

Answer: I think that when it came to really giving up the child that your husband would find that he couldn't do it. His love for the little creature would be too much. So why don't you get the couple who want the child to look it for a few months and see if the arrangement works?

Of course, if you are not able to feed the child and give it the proper care, it will be better for it to be in a home where it can be on the things it needs, but many of the greatest men and women in the world have come from homes as poor as yours.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

Copyright, 1947
 By King Features Syndicate.

New York, Sept. 7 — To citizens who desire to face the truth, I recommend frank acknowledgment of the fact that unionism is an enemy of labor and a corruption of government. Labor, meaning people who work, is no more virtuous than merchants, doctors, clergymen or public officials. It is customary to goose-arsene labor for votes and retail patronage, but nobody knows better than the working people themselves that they contain their due proportion of loafers, counterfeits, and rascals. They are, on the average, less intelligent than most other elements of society. That is why they are labor. For that reason, the better elements should oppose with all their wit and might all efforts to elect a labor-government.

The decision that unionism is a moral and intellectual congeal, it will be very unpopular. Much of the abuse will come from ignorant, selfish workers who would sign away their manhood and their rights, too, in return for a few dollars a week of inflated currency given them by unions in paid for, and more by cynical, predatory character of the union bosses we can easily see that these temptations to the fools are mere bait.

For all our educational plant, the majority of the American people still can't realize that every raise in pay or improvement of working conditions obtained by unions is paid for, and more, by sacrifice of personal rights. If the union member injured only himself, I would say that that was his privilege, although, in a parallel case, the federal government would intervene to save him from his folly on the ground that a fool cannot sell himself into slavery.

That is what an American does when he joins or is forced into a union. He subjects himself to a set of rules and a rule of brutal, totalitarian whims which very seriously damage the wonderful citizenship which the founding fathers wrought for all of us. The government which the founding fathers bequeathed to men of weak mind is so conscientious in protecting them that it is related to the constitution by disallowing their freedom to enter such contracts.

You might reach a considered decision to sell yourself to a rich man as an absolute slave to property, to an absolute financial security for your dependents. That is what would sell their children and even go into production for the slave market if the price were right. We have actually seen the next thing to that in the calculated trade of profits members of the lower orders to get on relief or join the army. We outlawed the yellow dog contract because it has a renewal clause binding the worker indefinitely and because it would force him to join the union. He freely agreed not to join and that was a contract. But we held that coercion was behind it all, so we outlawed the yellow dog contract between employers and workers.

In the light of later learning, I would admit that some employers sincerely desire only to keep men out of the power of Green, Murray and Lewis. They knew what harsh hypocrites the union racketeers were. I know that is my case today. I freely admit that, for a long time, I was pro-union. Most of that time I was sincere, but during the last couple of years I just lacked the mental clarity and the moral gumption to decide that unionism was absolutely bad and ought to be wiped out.

But — and here is the dirty trick — we granted the unions the right to impose yellow-dog terms on the slaves just liberated from the south-

Cotton League Playoff Shifts to Pine Bluff

Pine Bluff, Sept. 12 —(P) — The Cotton States league playoff finals shift to Pine Bluff tonight with the host Cardinals and the Natchez Indians deadlocked at one victory apiece.

The first team to win four games will gain the championship. Eddie Albrecht, a 29-game winner during the regular season, made it possible for the Cards to pull even with the Mississippians before leaving Natchez. He set down the Indians, 6 to 0, on four hits yesterday. The little righthander struck out seven.

Three singles, a walk and three Indian errors gave Pine Bluff five runs in the fourth inning.

Three singles, a walk and three Indian errors gave Pine Bluff five runs in the fourth inning.

Natchez won the series opener, 11 to 3, Saturday night. The Tribe routed the Tommy Graham team, his successors on the mound with 14 hits. Three successive homers were slammed off Card relief hurler Jack Stivers in the sixth.

Grid Activity to Pick Up This Week in State

Little Rock, Sept. 12 —(P) — The football bug, biting fans earlier than usual this year, will near—but not quite reach—full growth in Arkansas this week.

Virtually all high schools will send their gridderies into competition, and six college teams will see action—five of them opening the season.

Out of the state but of much interest to its fans, three Southwest conference elevens will unwrap their 1949 stuff.

The program, however, may be dull compared to the top attraction of last weekend. Thrills came by the minute as the Champion Philadelphia Eagles and the Los Angeles Rams played to a 24-24 tie in a professional exhibition before 24,000 onlookers at War Memorial stadium in Little Rock Saturday night.

One thing kept it from being a perfect night for the Wonder State fans. That was that, although running nicely, Clyde Scott couldn't keep possession of the ball. The former Arkansas Razorback, star of the Eagles netted a 24-yard pass on three carries but fumbled the runs from helping his team.

Two Arkansas intercollegiate conference teams which went to past trying to win non-league games with Little Rock Junior college swamped Central (North Little Rock) 59 to 13, but Ouachita fell before Corpus Christi university, 24-0.

Ouachita likely will have a tough time trying to balance its toughest column when it journeys to Oklahoma City university for a setto Saturday.

Arkansas A. and M. will swing into action Thursday against Delta State at Cleveland, Miss. Opening Saturday will be Arkansas Tech against Central Oklahoma State at Fort Smith; Arkansas State Teachers against Southwest Missouri Teachers at Springfield, Mo.; Arkansas at Batesville, and Magnolia A. and M. against Eastern Oklahoma A. and M. at Magnolia.

Outside competition is on tap for the three Southwest conference teams which will play Saturday. Texas Christian will visit Kansas university; Texas A. and M. will entertain Villanova and the University of Texas will be host to Texas Tech.

Arkansas Southern Methodist, Rice and Baylor will wait another week to unveil their wares.

less corporations. This yellow dog slavery is explicit in most unions' constitutions and by-laws and implicit in all the others. Some time ago I testified before a section of the house committee on labor about union racketeering. To establish the basis for my attack I brought to the capital about twenty union constitutions. They all outrageously violated the constitutions of the nation and the states and flatly degraded the status of the members to a status of frightened, whimpering subjects of the union bosses.

After I had read off the yellow dog clauses and other un-American iniquities straight out of these booklets, the chairman began to squirm. He is a union lawyer. After all, he got a fee of $80,000 cash, from the treasury of just one local of the carpenters' union in a jam with the parent organization. So he was purchasing an undignified quest for similar cases. When his two-year term is up he can go back to lawing against the big fat treasuries of the international unions for more of those $80,000 fees. He wanted names, addresses and particulars. Smelling something, I decided to let him find his own. I can't tell which side he might represent for his $80,000 fees when his two years are up. He might become lawyer for the people who had written to me cominternationals. My witnesses, the planning of yellow dog treatment, brutality and robbery, might come down with an epidemic of broken-legs.

The house committee on labor definitely did not want the record to show that unionism was inherently just the same old yellow dog system, this time with the unions holding the leash and beating the poor, pitiable cur, the common man, the fool who looked to Roosevelt as a god. Why pretend to believe that there can be anything decent in this foul system? Why not put Green, Murray and Lewis to intelligence tests? Why are they so good to us? They now have the power to throttle the country at a word. Did the people ever intend them to have that power? They are grabbing millions out of the pay of citizens who were driven into their rackets by political force and spending it to elect the same kind of bankruptcy and poverty government that the British got from their Socialist party huffed with the labor union.

All such things considered, I find it quite easy and pleasant now to say that I am anti-union, absolutely.

... AND GNASHING OF TEETH—Say your favorite quiz program is interrupted with a special bulletin: "And now we bring you as a public service the gnashing of a baby alligator's teeth." The chances are the station is testing a new type condenser microphone, a model of which is seen on the piano at right, alongside a conventional mike. The new mike has a range of 20 to 15,000 vibrations per second, far greater than types now in use. Orchestra leader Ray Hackett, above, at the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco, checks for himself the mike's ability to pick up an alligator's tooth-gnashing.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Sept. 12 —(P) — "We have a code of our own. When a new skater comes in, we could easily knock her down or body block her, but we never do that until she learns how to take care of herself. We don't consider it good sportsmanship," explained Marjorie Chaire Brashers. Miss Brashers, known as "Birdie" or "Toughie," probably is the best advertisement for the strange sport called "roller derby" which opens its "world series" Friday. For the benefit of the ignorant it is explained that the objective of this kind of roller-skating race is to steal laps and to prevent the opposing side from doing likewise. The game has been widely publicized with pictures of spills and "Toughie" is a modestly decorated figure in such goings-on. "You go out in front and somebody takes after you. The way to stop her is to knock her down," she explains modestly. "There really aren't so many fights. After all, the race is the thing. I don't call it a fight when you just stand there and argue; only when you throw punches."

Thy Chew To Run Ruth Howich, California's feminine horse trainer, was asked recently the reason for her success. "Well," Ruth explained, "I'd never think of feeding my horses anything I'd not eat myself." Just then an unbelieving bystander asked: "Miss Ruth, please tell us how you enjoyed your first alfalfa breakfast."

Monday Matinee Don't be surprised if the American football league puts a team into El Paso next fall. Robert M. Smith, a Brooklyn attorney and former St. John's U. footballer, and Henry Lewis, the polo and racing man, are interested. Chuck Hyatt, the old-time basketball star at Pittsburgh and points west, recently won the Delmarva amateur golf title at Sanford, Del. Knoxville, Tenn., may get a new baseball park, but the city council has decreed that the smokers will have to produce a better team before they'll be allowed to use it.

Saltzgraver Signed Again Little Rock — Jack Saltzgraver signed to manage the Little Rock Travelers of the Southern association again next season, which will be his third at the helm.

Gridster Injured Oklahoma City, Sept. 12 —(P) — Dennis Hall, 17, Potomac high school football player, was reported improving today. His neck was broken in a game Friday night. Hospital attendants said Hall spent a quiet night. He was brought here after being hurt in a game against Mansfield, Ark.

Little Rock — Okmulgee, Okla., and Little Rock's Worthen Bankers advanced to tonight's finals of the Southwest regional men's softball tournament. Undelected Okmulgee can grab the title with one win. Little Rock, 10-1 loser to the Oklahomans yesterday, needs two

49 Contenders for National Women's Title

Merion, Pa., Sept. 12 —(P) — A field of 123 golfers tees off today at the Merion golf club, and by next Saturday evening one of the number will have waded through seven matches to become the 49th women's amateur champion of the United States.

Which contestant that would be was anybody's guess. The first two women left the first tee for the first round, although naturally the defending champion, Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., rates as a staunch contender.

However, Miss Lenczyk faces stern competition from not only other well-known and dark-horse American rivals, but from overseas as well. Miss Frances Stephens of Bootle, Eng., winner of the tough British women's golf tournament this year, is on hand.

Four former champions also are in quest of greater glory. They include Mrs. Julius A. Page, Jr., of Chapel Hill, N. C., the 1937 champion; Mrs. Edwin H. Vane Jr. of Merion, six times a winner; Mrs. Helen B. Sletson of Abington, Pa., a champion back in 1926, and Miss Margaret Curtis of Boston, winner in 1907, 1911 and 1912.

New York took care of Washington 20-3 and 2-1, setting a new major league record in the opener by drawing 11 bases on balls from the Senators' "pitchers" during a 12-run rally in the third inning. The second game was called because of darkness after 5-1-2 innings with the celebrities missing a chance to tie by some inept base running.

Detroit continued its surge, as Virgil Trucks shut out Chicago, 1-0, for the Tigers' 10th straight win. They have won 18 of their last 20 and hold third place, a half game ahead of the defending world champion Cleveland Indians. The Indians lost at St. Louis, 5-4. The Tigers are 5-1-2 games behind the Yankees with only 14 to go. They could do it but it would require a miracle finish.

Stan Musial smashed three homers, umpiring his season total to 32, in the St. Louis Cardinals' double killing of Cincinnati, 7-5 and 7-4. The victories added a half game to their National League lead, which now is 1-1-2 games over Brooklyn.

The Dodgers pumped across six runs in the seventh inning, including a grand slam homer by Carl Furillo to win the New York Giants, 10-5. Shortstop Pee Wee Reese was injured during the big inning when hit by a ball thrown by Larry Jansen. X-rays disclosed early fracture of the third fracture but it is not definite when he will be able to play.

Ken Heintzelman and Russ Meyer pitched the Phillies to a pair of wins over the staggering Boston Braves, 3-1 and 6-3. Ralph Kiner, leader of only bright spot in the Pittsburgh picture, hit his 45th and 46th homers in the Pirates' 7-3 decision over Chicago.

Pine Bluff — Harry Chozon, who has led his Pine Bluff Cardinals into the Cotton States league playoff finals, signed a 1950 contract as manager-catcher.

Headaches for Custom Officials

By HAMILTON W. FARON
(For JAMES MARLOW)

Washington, Sept. 12 —(AP)—A shipment of English china reached the United States from Britain yesterday, packed in sets — cups, saucers, dinner plates, dessert dishes — into individual groups.

Customs officers took one look and shook their heads. The shipment had to be unpacked and cups, saucers, plates, dessert dishes sorted into individual groups.

Duty had to be paid on the plates, on the cups, on the saucers, on the dessert dishes, as separate shipments. Then the importers had to reassemble the china as sets.

That is one example of problems faced by British exporters in selling to the United States market. It is one of the problems with which the U. S. British-Canadian economic conference here will deal. A "working group" has been set up to prepare information on it for the conference.

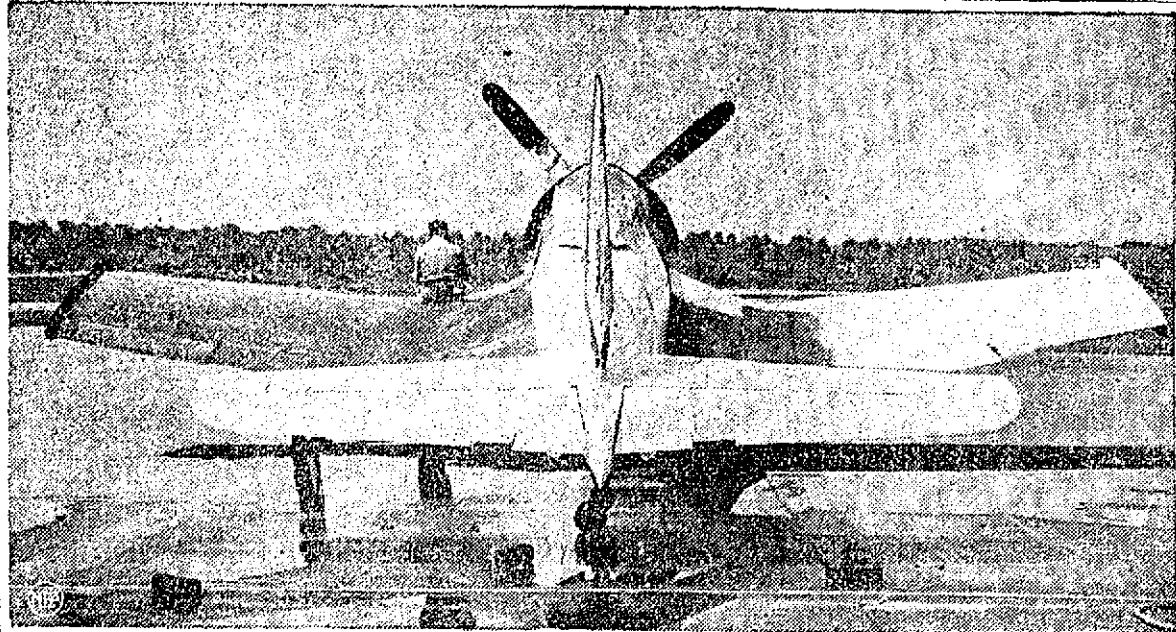

"What we hope for," said one British commercial representative here, "is a new attitude on the part of the customs officials, who seem still to be suffering from a hangover from the Boston tea party."

A United States official who is trying to smooth the way for sales here by British and other European manufacturers said:

"Customs people are working to simplify the procedures and eliminate some rulings that have little reason to be continued. They are receptive to suggestions for changes, and a sincere effort is being made to clear up the so-called nuisance problems. x x x"

One thing that is needed, however, is not general criticism of the procedures, but specific instances of possible changes to simplify the methods."

The British Commercial Ob-

CORSAIR CLIPPED FOR SPEED—To get that bit of extra speed that he hopes will put him out in front in the Thompson Trophy event at the National Air Races in Cleveland, O., pilot Cook Cleland sawed 5 feet off each end of the 41-foot wing of his Corsair, and added a contrivance of his own design to "hold her in the turns." Cleland, a former Navy ace who now operates an airport at Willoughby, O., won the Thompson purse in 1947, but was forced out last year because of motor trouble.

server gave some other individual cases:

Ticket machines — like those used in London's subways — were "selling quite well" here as machines, he said — "then one day somebody said: 'These aren't machines, with a duty of 12 1/2 per cent. They are cash registers. The duty is 65 per cent.'"

Both the American and the British agreed that tariffs themselves are not the principal problem.

The American pointed out that reductions have been made in most tariffs — "they are by no means what they were pre-war."

The British Observer expressed the opinion they "are pretty high." He added, however, that he believes the rates are "designed to prevent entry into mass markets and confine imports to the luxury trade."

He cited tableware. Solid silver pays a duty of 22 1/2 per cent and silver-plated ware 35 per cent.

Some examples of tariff rates now in effect, compared with 1945, from U. S. tariff commission records include:

Bone china now 36.3 per cent of its wholesale value in the country of manufacture; 45 per cent in 1945.

State to Receive Federal Funds for Highways

Little Rock, Sept. 12 — (AP)—About $6,700,000 in federal funds will be available for Arkansas highway construction in 1951.

Chief Engineer Art Johnson of the Arkansas highway department said Saturday the money will be available next Oct. 1 and will remain available for use through June 30, 1952.

The money will be matched by state funds.

$1.25 to $2 a pound now 42.1 per cent compared with 66.1.

Bottled whiskey 32.2 per cent compared with 53.4 per cent.

Both Britishers and Americans said changes probably should be made in the basis of determining value for tariff purposes. The British wanted to put determination of value on the United States.

"We are trying to export," he said, "and sometimes we have artificial shortages that increase prices. In our opinion the tariff should be fixed on the invoice of the wholesale price to the importer."

FOR HIGH FLIGHT—A new disposable, constant-flow oxygen mask, to be used by airline passengers in high-altitude flights, is modeled by a pretty miss at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, O. Developed by the Air Materiel Command, the mask consists of a thin plicofilm bellows which expands and contracts as the wearer breathes in oxygen. Exhaled gasses escape through a porous paper facepiece. A plastic tube connects the mask to the plane's oxygen supply.

Easy to Play New Card Game Canasta

Hints to the beginner at Canasta: Watch out for those red cards! Remember that you must take another card from the stock pile for each red tray that you put on the table.

Make sure that you understand the conditions applying to the frozen pack.

Black trays, while apparently nuisance cards, are valuable to prevent your opponent from taking the pack, especially when the pack becomes big.

Don't waste time trying for natural Canastas. You may lose 300 attempting to gain an additional 200.

Don't waste much time on concealed hands. They only earn an additional 100 points.

Don't be too anxious to put your cards on the table. Always try to be in a position to take the pack. Remember that one additional Canasta is worth 300 points. The cards in your hand may represent a loss of only 50 or 100 points.

Don't get down to too few cards. The fewer cards you have in your hand, the less flexible the hand is.

It pays to get your first minimum meld down as soon as possible.

Don't hold up your Canastas. They count 300 or 500 points on the table. Your partner may have a good melding hand and need your Canasta to melt out.

Don't be too anxious to take the pack if it contains only a few cards, especially if you have pretty good control of the pack.

Not cannot have more than three wild cards in any meld, except that after a Canasta is completed, you may add to it, and there is no limit to the number of wild cards that you may add to it.

If you add a wild card to a natural Canasta, you reduce its value from 500 to 300 points.

You cannot pick up a black tray even though you have two black trays in your hand. However, in order to meld out, melds may be made with black trays the same as any other meld.

When the pack is small, you can discard your singletons or doubletons, but when the pack gets large be careful. If you have not a black three or even a wild card to prevent your opponent from taking the pack, it may even pay you to discard from one of your suit suits, hoping that he will not have a match for it.

When the other side has control of the pack, try to go out as quickly as possible to prevent them from running up a large score. If the opponents have a lot of cards on the table and a number of nearly completed Canastas, it may well pay you to go out instead of playing for another Canasta in order to prevent them from completing several others.

Private Eye Claims Answer to Old Crime

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 12 —(U)—A private detective said today he has solved the kidnap-killing of little Dorothy Ann Distelhurst and can break the 15-year-old case if a "mystery woman" will talk.

Detective R. L. Patton said he already knows who held the Distelhurst child for ransom in 1934 and left her body in a shallow grave in a Nashville suburb. He said the testimony of the former wife of a leading suspect would clinch the case.

Patton's interest in solving the crime, which created a sensation in its time, continued to grow after a host of other officers had dropped the investigation. He said that "conditions are right" now to bring it into the open again.

Patton was working as a deputy sheriff when six-year-old Dorothy Ann disappeared on her way home from kindergarten on Sept. 19, 1934. This was just a few years after the Lindbergh kidnapping and the two cases were strikingly similar.

The little girl's father was preparing to pay $5,000 ransom when her decomposed body was found two months later. A man in New York City was convicted of writing ransom notes, but no other progress toward a solution was made.

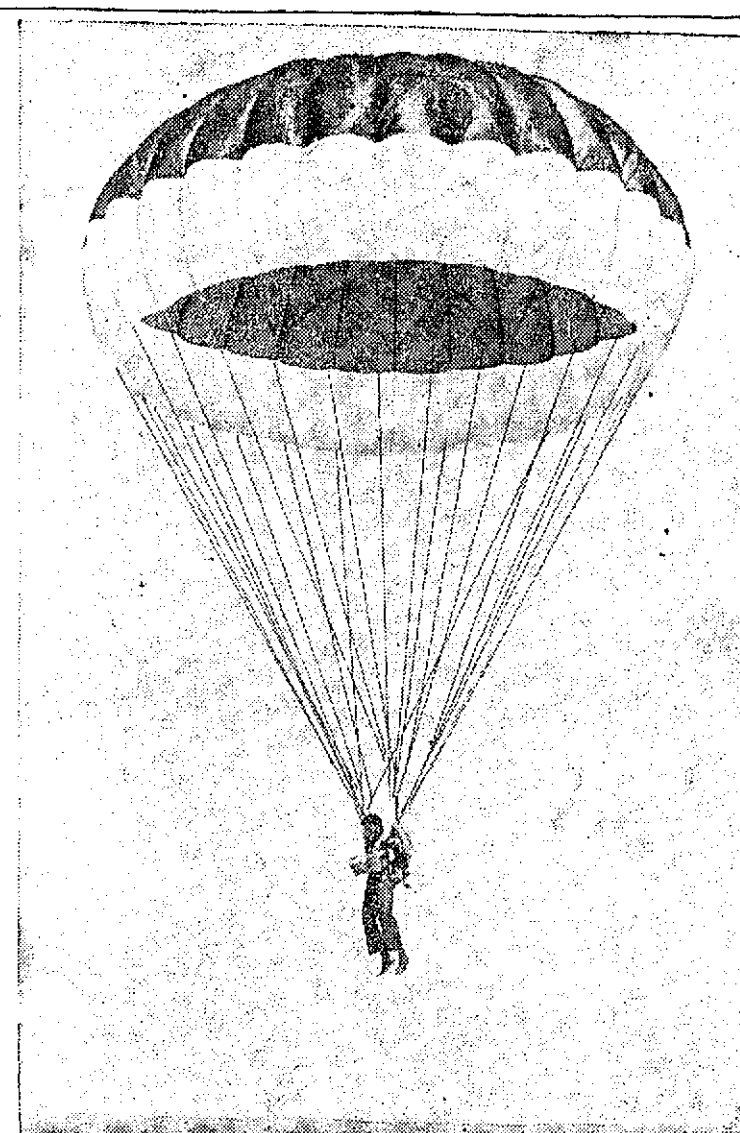

Patton has been assured by the state legal department that his mystery witness will be given immunity from prosecution if he brings her to court in Tennessee, and he plans to contact her soon.

"I hope to God she will talk," he said, "because I know I'm right now. I think we'll have him (the killer) facing a murder charge real soon."

Patton brought up the angle that Dorothy Ann might have been killed accidentally by a motorist who hid the body to avoid manslaughter charges and hit upon the ransom plan as an afterthought.

He devoted all of his spare time to the search for evidence and stayed on the case even after retiring from the sheriff's force last January. He was assisted by Wade Thornton, a former identification expert who also was fascinated by the hunt.

Patton estimated that he has spent $1,500 of his own money running down clues but all he wants in return is credit for solving the case that "so many others worked on and quit."

STRAIGHT CHUTER—The new "extended skirt" nylon parachute above will soon become standard equipment for pilots of Navy jets and other high-speed planes. The chute, designed by Lieut. (jg) A. C. Binder, is more stable than conventional models, and does not swing the flier back and forth as he approaches the ground. The pendulum motion has been the cause of many landing accidents. ### British Paper Reports 'Sell Out' Plan

London, Sept. 12 —(AP)—The empire crusading Daily Express attacked today as a "sell-out" published reports here of a Washington dollar talk agreement to promote greater American investments in the sterling area countries.

Other London papers, excepting the Communist Daily Worker, generally endorsed the proposal.

The Daily Express said "the socialists are selling us out again to the Americans."

It is worse and worse. Last time they sold our British markets and population in return for the loan they squandered.

"This time they are selling out
